

Sabal Trust, Presenting Sponsor for Jewels of the Imagination Exhibition

We are excited to celebrate Jean Schlumberger's legacy of fine jewelry and mid-century design at The Museum of Fine Arts St. Petersburg. His career began in the 1930's as a costume jewelry designer for Elsa Schiaparelli and, by 1956, he became Vice President of Tiffany & Co. with his own design salon at their Fifth Avenue headquarters. From now until March 31st, the Jewels of the Imagination exhibit will be on display for those wanting to explore the largest, most comprehensive public collection of Schlumberger's work in the world—a sparkling legacy, indeed.

Sabal Trust Company